BRUTE STRENGTH was the order of the day as draft horses competed in a pulling contest sponsored by the Evergreen Ruritans Saturday. In the heavyweight division, first-place honors went to the team of Randy Wimberly of Gretna, second place went to Dicky Tilson of Meherrin, and third place went to Roy Cash of Amherst. In the lightweight division, first place went to Tim Sauls of Chilhowie, second place went to Arthur Crabtree of Big Stone Gap, and third place went to Danny Cash of Appomattox. The horses, which pulled up to 6,000 pounds, are mostly working animals which probably consider the competition a holiday when compared to work on the farm. (Photo by Jeff Spitzer)

Late-night gatherings

Solution sought for P.M. noise nuisance

The problem of noise and litter generated by groups of youths congregating in the town of Appomattox after dark was discussed by the Appomatox Town Council at their meeting Monday night.

Two town citizens-Dorinda Saxton and Susan Book--appeared before the Council to request that some action be taken to remedy the problem which they said is particularly bad on weekend nights.

Saxton, who lives at the corner of High Street and Bandana, said that the area around Dixie Blend service station and Western Auto store on Route 460 is a popular gathering place for the young people after dark.

She noted that the owners of the business placed "No Tresspassing After Business Hours" signs on their properties, but that did not stop the nocturnal congregations.

Book, who lives on Court Street, added that noises from the evening gatherings disturbs her family as well.

Mayor Ronald C. Spiggle acknowledged the problem, noting that there are a number of sites around town which are popular amoung youth as after-dark gathering places.

"I agree that something needs to be done about this," Spiggle said. "I realize that these kids need someplace to go, but they should also realize the problems that these gatherings create with noise and trash.

Spiggle directed Town Manager Bill Britton to investigate the policy for enforcing the county's nuisance ordinance with the town limits, and to check with Commonwealth's Attorney W. Sam Kerr on the state law concerning violations where "No Tresspassing" signs are posted. Councilmen agreed to consider the information and the problem at the July meeting of the governing body.

Councilmen also heard two requests for use of a portion of the old railroad depot on Main Street by private individuals.

The space in question was recently vacated by the Stitch-N-Station, a fabrics store, next to the Historic Appomattox Station Arts and Crafts Station in the depot. The business has recently moved to the site of the former Hunter Dickerson clothing store on Church Street.

Virginia Hancock, who is co-owner of a cake and craft shop currently located on Church Street, said that she would like to relocate in the space vacated by the fabric store.

Tommy Moore, who owns and operates a restaurant in town, said that he would like to locate a craft shop for the sale of custom stained glass, as well as for conducting classes in that craft, in the space which has been vacated.

Council members told Hancock and Moore that they will consider requests and decide before next month's Council meeting whether the space will be rented again, and if so will be allowed to rent it it.

Council members also heard a report on the Town Ball Park from Fred "Bookie" Johnson, park manager.

Johnson noted that there has been a request for use of the park for a bluegrass music festival. Councilmen Sam Carter voted that he opposes such use of the park because "it is in the best shape it's ever been, and as music festival would just ruin it up."

Johnson noted that there had also been some questions regarding the proposed $150 user fee for groups holding tournaments in the park.

Councilmen discussed the ques-

Powell named to school board

Deborah Powell was chosen as the representative of the Southside District on the Appomattox County School Board at Friday's meeting of the county Board of Supervisors.

Powell was one of three persons who were being considered for the school board seat, vacated by 12-year board veteran Ruth Webb, who has retired from the school board. Powell and the other two candidates -- Dr. John Fedison and Nelson Mann -- spoke at a public hearing June 8, outlining their reasons for wanting to be a part of the school board.

Commenting on her appointment to the board, Powell said this week that she thanks "the many factions of people who supported me -- those who spoke on my behalf and those who wrote letters in my support. I'll probably be a better board member for it."

Powell added that she considers the school board job a "great responsibility," and that she "knew what I was getting into when I decided to seek the appointment."

Powell said that she will "work hard for our school system, and will welcome and encourage all comments and suggestions from parents and citizens of our county."

Board members also reappointed J.B. (Berk) Drinkard, Jr., to represent the Clover Hill District on the school board. Drinkard, who has been a school board member for ten years, was unopposed for reappointment to the board as representative from his district.

Powell and Drinkard will assume their duties as school board members on July 1.

Board members also approved a $7,892,266 budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1. The budget includes expenditures of $5,421,872 for the school system, and $2,470,394 in general fund expenditures.

Local revenue estimates in the budget include $2,186,803 from local sources, $4,529,411 from the state, and $376,052 from the federal government. The revenue portion of the budget also includes an anticipated $800,000 surplus from the current fiscal year's budget.

Board members were also told that an adjustment in county income figures for the 1980 census will result in additional revenue-sharing money from the U.S. government totaling $30,879.

County Special Projects Assistant Bill Britton noted that the county's average per capita income estimate was reduced from the original census figure of $7,646 to $6,233. Because the amount of revenue-sharing money which a county receives is based partly on the average per capita income level of that county, the reduced figure means that the county will get the additional $30,879.

Monday morning, June 13. Clear as a bell and summertime warm. Thirteens do not have to be unlucky. For weeks ahead I've reserve the right to wish for adequate rain and may every day be your lucky day. I remember a beautiful song of a generation ago, called, "A June Night". Very romantic. Appomattox is rounding into shape for a fine summer. We do not want anyone left out.

That's a rambling paragraph, so let me report about rambling. Sunday afternoon I started out on a lone ride in my car, with no particular destination. Just wanted to see what our area looks like. And I got lost. Roads are well marked, but in numbers that do not mean a thing to me. So, for two hours I just kept driving. Would have stopped to ask directions, but the part of the world I was in was thinly populated and everyone must have been inside looking at TV. I made lots of notes. Lawns well groomed and premises around homes very neat. But very few gardens! Vegetable gardens, that is. Very few dogs visable. Nor children at play. Most every home had at least one rosebush in bloom. The roads in good shape. But, where was I? For all I knew might have been next to Chase City or Pulaski, maybe New Market. But at long last, suddenly I came upon Route 460 and a sign said, "Spout Spring." Now I knew where I was! Five miles east, and Appomattox and Martha Street. Comment: not as many cattle as had expected. And I understand the expression that ours is becoming a "bedroom county" for payroll workers. And I suggest you try such a trip. Can you get lost? Betcha.

Thanks for friends bringing me some interesting out-of-state newspapers. My friend, Louis Granato left some fine papers from New Jersey, etc. And Bro. David A. Garrette brought papers he and Mrs. Garrette saved during a Western trip. Fort Smith, Ark.; Little Rock, Ark.; Memphis, Tenn.; Chattanooga, Tenn.; etc. And, too, thanks to Bro. A. M. Kruschwitz, Edgewood St., for a paper from Estonia.

Ah yes, honored to meet a fine young lady, Masako Seki. A nurse from Tokyo, Japan. She is in the USA to add to her knowledge in nursing and become a "head nurse" upon returning to Japan. Is a guest of Miss Claudine O'Brien while in Appomattox. They enjoyed a trip to the top of Peaks of Otter. And, yes, she likes Hamburgers and hot dogs, can tell you about Japanese cars and trains, and it is a privilege to have such visitors here. Miss O'Brien took her guest to visit our National Park Service historical area. And I got her autograph - in Japanese as well as English.

Also met up with an old friend, Adfield McCain, of Livingston, Alabama. Looked great. Nomination for a talented young lady, Mrs. Kitty Farris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Simpson and granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Wilkes. Mrs. Catherine Frazier, Kenbridge, was here Saturday to attend a wedding. Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W.P. Gills and former clerk of the local school board. The welcome sign stays out in Appomattox. Thanks for reading and seeya around.

Food to be distributed

Cheese and butter will be distributed to qualified recipients in Appomattox County Monday, June 20, and Tuesday, June 21, according to Francis Elliott, program coordinator.

The food will be distributed from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Monday, and from 9 a.m. until the supply runs out on Tuesday, according to Elliott.

The distribution site will be the old railroad depot in the Town of Appomatox on Main Street.

This will be the last commodity food distribution until sometime in the early fall, according to Elliott.

100 locals participate

Relay's success noted

The first annual CSX-sponsored "Life Be In It Whistle-Stop Relay" held June 2 - 4 was a tremendous success.

The relay was a statewide event in which all localities were asked to participate in celebration of being active by passing a baton from one jurisdiction to another, triggering a relay of thousands of people who ran, walked, canoed, bicycled, and roller skated from the five most remote parts of the state -- Bristol, Emporia, Virginia Beach, Winchester, and Leesburg. People carrying 5 batons covered over 1500 miles as they made their way to Richmond in celebration of June 4 as "National Life Be In It Day", and the month of June as Parks and Recreation Month.

Julie Coffman and Bill Britton coordinated the Appomattox segment of the Whistle Stop Relay. Appomattox had three events to celebrate the relay. On Thursday, the towns of Appomattox and Pamplin City had Celebrity Whistle Stop Relays in which a variety of foot-powered transportation was featured. Friday, June 3 the Whistle Stop Relay ran the entire length of the county on Route 460 from the Campbell County line at Concord to the Prince Edward County line at Pamplin. Coffman and Britton were ecstatic with the time of 2 hours, 2 minutes that it took for the runners and bicyclists to complete the distance of 21 miles.

Everything worked great with all the participants giving their best efforts. Deputy Sheriff Richard Phelps followed the runners the distance, making the Appomattox segment among the safest in the state.

The Whistle Stop Relay had numerous highlights. The Town of Appomattox Celebrity Relay featured Mayor Ronnie Spiggle gently jogging the first leg, handing the baton to a group of energetic Big Wheelers. Supervisor Franklin Vaughan found himself being chauffeured by Bob Hudson in a limited edition wheelbarrow right down Main Street.
